

Approximate translation in English of claim 1

1. Medicated bandage, characterized in that at least one low level laser irradiation device, is attached or solubly attached to the bandage in such a manner that the low level laser irradiating device delivers a laser beam in a specified area of the body which is covered by the attached bandage.